

Setting up and Running a School Garden

Tuesday 16th March 2010

Learning and Growing the Curriculum Outdoors

Wednesday 17th March 2010

Batley Girls' High School, West Yorkshire

These two practical workshops are aimed at secondary teachers and staff who want to learn how to set up and use their school grounds and gardens to deliver the National Curriculum through real world learning.

Day one concentrates on how to set up your school garden and what to grow, whilst day two will show how to use the outdoor areas at your school to deliver inspiring teaching and learning. Both days will be packed full of case studies, lesson plans and ideas. Curriculum areas covered will include science, geography and key skills, amongst others.

The workshops will be linked to the Sustainable Schools doorway themes, Campaign for School Gardening and the Learning Outside the Classroom campaign.

These events will be led by heritage and outdoor learning experts, Kate Measures Consulting. Kate Measures brings to the workshop 14 years of experience in outdoor learning and education for sustainable development.

Delegates last year said:

'I really enjoyed this day and have gone away with some ideas I'm going to try this week!'

'I've come away with loads of great ideas, the resources table and pack was excellent.'

Venue: Batley Girls' High School, Windmill Lane, Batley, West Yorkshire, WF17 0LD.
